What is a Wrap?

It's a digitally printed graphic with your advertising messages and images, on top of scratch-resistant, removable adhesive vinyl. Similar to a large, high-tech sticker, a custom vehicle wrap will last for several years.

Today's wraps are much more than vehicle covers. Signs By Tomorrow vehicle wrap advertising can market an entire fleet of vehicles, cars and trucks, as well as motorcycles and gas pumps. You can even wrap a wall, vending machines, trailers, RVs and boats of all shapes and sizes.

It's fair to say that savvy business owners have plastered their logo and phone number on company vehicles for years. With recent advancements in technology, business owners can take advantage of new options for promoting products or services in a way that is both highly effective and affordable. From custom vehicle graphics to walls murals, the vehicle wrap advertisement is a wonderful marketing tool that is here to stay.

What Makes a Wrap Effective?

Today's colorful, attention-getting graphics are the perfect medium for America's on-the-go society. According to the Outdoor Advertising Association of America (OAAA), advertisers spent $6.1 billion on outdoor advertising in 2010. And, OAAA shows mobile advertising reaching more consumers at a lower Cost Per Thousand Impressions (CPM) than any other form of outdoor advertising.

Plus, seeing a custom branded fleet vehicle parked in front of a neighboring home or business acts as a referral and can trigger someone to take action on a purchasing decision. And unlike traditional advertising media, which may be tuned out, it's almost impossible not to look at the back of a vehicle at a red light. Join the business owners nationwide that are discovering how full-color vehicle wraps and large format graphics are the best way to reach customers quickly, effectively and economically.

Large-Format Wraps Demand Attention

"Wrapped vehicles not only place messages in front of target consumers, they also provide the opportunity for direct customer contact through coupon distribution, sampling and other promotional tactics," notes Stephen Freitas, spokesperson for the Outdoor Advertising Association of America (OAAA).

Outdoor media also reaches the entire socioeconomic spectrum of Americans, according an article titled Benefits of Vehicle Wrapping on the SignIndustry.com website. "People with heavy vehicle mileage and long commutes are more difficult to reach with both the newspaper -- almost one out of three Americans do not read a daily newspaper anyway -- and local TV news broadcasts. On the contrary, the study showed that virtually every American (96 percent) travels in a vehicle each week as either a driver or a passenger,” the article reveals. A wrap guarantees to take your message directly to your audience.

Wrap Up More Business

Transform your vehicles into mobile media advertising with a campaign that reaches the masses. It’s proven that mobile advertising spreads your message fast.

In article called Car Wraps and Graphics Are Revolutionizing the Advertising Business, PRNewswire.com reveals, “Good news travels fast, but when it comes to promoting your business, nothing spreads your message faster than vehicle wraps.”

Crucial to both large and small businesses alike, car, truck and boat wraps provide a powerful solution to reaching more customers and developing new business leads.

The Signs By Tomorrow advertising team can wrap just about anything that rolls, moves or has wheels. From scooters and gas pumps to tractor-trailers, vehicle wraps are an extremely popular form of mobile advertising that takes your message out of the box.

According to the Transportation Advertising Council, full-color vehicle wraps garner almost 70,000 impressions daily, making their cost per impression dramatically less than traditional forms of advertising such as radio or television.

Wrap Examples

Customers are finding creative and effective ways of using custom fleet and vehicle graphics successfully with the help of professionals at their local Signs By Tomorrow graphics and signage center.

Vehicle Wrap Customer: Devcon Security

When Florida-based home and business security systems provider Devcon Security launched a national expansion, the company turned to Justin Brown and the Fort Worth, TX Signs By Tomorrow center to streamline the process of wrapping their expansive fleet of more than 175 vans.

Despite vehicles being scattered in 30 cities across the U.S., Justin was able to project manage every job, printing all the graphics in Texas to ensure consistency and then shipping and coordinating with a network of Signs By Tomorrow and 3M-certified installers in each geographic market. For the second order, Justin was able to work directly with the leasing company to coordinate three different installation points and have 70 vehicles wrapped in about five days.

In the future, a single phone call to Signs By Tomorrow Fort Worth allows Devcon to quickly wrap additional new vehicles with custom graphic wraps or to obtain replacement panels in the event an existing vehicle's wrap graphic is damaged.

Wall Wrap Customer: Gigglin Marlin

When a new scuba training, gear and vacation planning company needed large format graphics to provide the "wow" factor from the moment customers walk in the door of their new offices, Giggin Martin turned to the signage and graphics experts of Signs By Tomorrow Spring, Texas.

The company needed two huge Phototex wall murals to prominently display the look and feel of a vacation getaway and dive experience on a 10-foot-high by 36-foot-wide wall as well as an adjacent 10-foot by 12-foot side wall. Using Phototex material saturated with HP 9000, the design was produced with large file formats that needed adjustment for the wall layout needs. The goal was to provide an emotionally uplifting atmosphere and for customers to want to book a dive trip immediately.

Despite challenges including huge file sizes and a trailer tire that had to be changed en route to deliver, once Giggin' Marlin gave final approval to the artwork it took the Signs By Tomorrow Houston team less than a week to print and install the huge custom wrap.
